1 Gradient Computation

I managed to successfully write the functions to correctly compute the gradient analytically. I tested my implementation by computing the gradients using ComputeGradsNum.m. Then I compared my results with the numerical approaches by calculating the relative difference of each gradient element. The relative errors shown in Table 1 seem reasonable and I therefore conclude that my calculations are correct.

Table 1: Relative error of gradient computation

	m=3	m=100
b	3.03E-08	2.34E-08
c	1.27E-09	1.17E-09
U	6.73E-08	1.23E-06
W	1.20E-04	5.00E-03
V	6.38E-07	8.37E-06
